To Whom It May Concern
Re: Letter of Recommendation for Kirsten Crawford

As a Dell employee for over 20 years along with a 15-year tenure as Head Golf Coach at the college level, I have had the opportunity to work with several quality colleagues and managers and to coach several high-caliber student-athletes. As a golf coach at Lawrence Technological University, I have had the privilege to coach and get to know Kirsten over the past 2 years. She is a special person who excels as a student-athlete while successfully navigating her way through the rigorous Architecture program at LTU. It is my pleasure to offer this letter of recommendation on her behalf.

In my opinion, qualities of a dynamic student-athlete include effectively managing time, being organized, responsibility, a positive demeanor, articulate communication and most of all, the ability to earn the trust and respect of those with which they work. Kirsten certainly has all of these qualities. She is very hard working and focused toward attaining her goals and consistently demonstrates responsibility, integrity and strong organizational skills. In my experience, Kirsten is a goal-orientated type of person that seems to be at her best in pressure situations. She has the natural qualities and characteristics to lead by example, to be flexible when handling conflict while at the same time, earning the respect of the people with which she interacts.

With great confidence, I offer my highest recommendation for Kirsten in her pursuit of employment and scholarship opportunities and have no doubt she will be successful in her chosen field of study as an Architect.
